Bavis & Pennypacker, Printers, No. 23 South Tenth Street.

INTRODUCTION.

In preparing the present catalogue, I have endeavored to give accurate and fair descriptions of the pieces, and feel confident that if there has been an error of judgment it will be found to be in underrating their condition. Although, with the limited space requisite in so large a catalogue, it is rather difficult to exactly convey the impression desired, I feel satisfied that in many instances purchasers will be agreeably disappointed.

There are many pieces to suit the cabinets of those who desire only uncirculated or very fine specimens, as well as pieces of a lower grade—with which many are satisfied. •

A small collection and a number of interesting pieces have been added to Mr. Chubbuck's original cabinet, in order to make the sale more attractive. Among them, I will mention the coins of Siam, Burmah, Anam and Cambodia. I do not think the last two named grace any cabinet in the United States.

Collectors can judge for themselves, by a careful perusal of the catalogue, of the varied and interesting character of the collection.

The size of ancient coins is by the scale of Mionnet; all others by the American scale of sixteen to an inch.

For the benefit of new collectors, I append a list of descriptive terms used to assist them in forming some idea of the appearance of the pieces: Proof; Uncirculated; Very Fine; Fine; Extra or Very Good; Good; Fair; Poor

Respectfully,

JOHN W. HASELTINE,
No. 512 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

ANAM.

[The sets of Anam and Cambodia was obtained from Mr. Jewell, the U. S. Consul at Siam, who paid $25 dollars per set for them in that country, and during two years' residence was not able to procure duplicates of them, although he endeavored to do so. I do not think another set of either are in this country.—J. W. H.]

- 1.00973 Shekel of Simon Maccabæus; the pot of manna; inscription, "Shekel of Israel;" rev., the budding rod of Aaron; inscription, "Jerusalem the Holy;" silver; excessively rare; thick; fine; size 13. very fine
- [The preceding piece weighs 190 grains; the fineness of the silver is about 770 thousandths; date, year 3 (B. C. 136); the one in the U. S. Mint weighs 219 grains; 950 thousandths fine; date, year 2 (B. C. 137); it is believed that Simon was forced to reduce the weight and fineness of this coin; it was obtained in Syria by a friend of Mr. Chubbuck, and he had refused several offers of $100 for it.]
- 3.5 974 Said to be a Jewish Coin; but I think it is an ancient coin of Hispania; the characters appear to be Celtiberian; I think it more likely a coin of Caius Cæsar; obv., bunch of grapes; silver; very good. very fine
